Reports of Councils/Committees Standing Committee(s)

Charge 6: Review and report on university efforts to positively impact recruitment and retention. A focus area should include a review of Financial Aid budget packaging and guidelines. James presented and shared slides.

- Financial Aid and Bronco Express are located on the main floor of Faunce Student Services Building
- Bronco Express is the service side for drop-ins, calls, emails, etc.
- What do Financial Aid Administrators do? The work must meet Title 4 and continue the flow of financial aid. It takes coordination with many departments across campus.
- Completed a partial program review with the Department of Education and are waiting on a feedback/final report.
- Consists of financial aid and scholarships, Bronco Express, and Student Success and Support.
- Previously, a financial literacy group existed. There is hope to again have a financial literacy group in the future to meet the ongoing needs of students.
- With students and families, Financial Aid discuss Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) and planning well before students attend college.
- Technical elements include packaging, advising on financial aid, counseling on academic progress, aid limits, and adjusting financial aid packaging based on additional income and offers.
- Financial Aid Administrators manage a year-round one-stop shop. Calls peak at 10,000 in August, recently due to FAFSA changes. Financial Aid Administrators educate on local-to-federal support options, centralize forecasting for Enrollment Management, and provide data for modeling. Financial Aid Administrators write annual Department of Education (DOE) reports, reconcile all funds, and update policy to match changes at the state and federal levels.

- 2024-25 total aid disbursed to date was $239,656,658 with about $10M more expected in the Summer I term.
- Packaging elements include:
 - Cost of Attendance – Student Aid Index – Other Financial Assistance = Need
 - Merit Aid, Need based Aid, Work Study, and Loans
- Financial Aid Administrators send offer letters, receive accept/decline responses, and disburse aid.
- Newer elements include debt letters, prison education program, Pell Grant eligibility, research on financial literacy modules, collaborate with Education Advisory Board (EAB) consultants on aid optimization for new students in 2025-26, and create a compliance culture at WMU.
- Upcoming deadlines and activities:
 - Budgetary spending plans, gainful employment reporting, conveying University compliance responsibilities
 - Reporting 2024-25, preparing for FAFSA 2025-26, and pivoting to understand recent executive orders
- What changed for Pell Grants in 2024-25?
 - Pell Grants previously had one method
 - After the FAFSA revision, there is now three different processes to determine eligibility for Pell Grants
- Satisfactory Academic Progress:
 - To qualify for aid, student must maintain satisfactory academic progress
 - WMU required to have a reasonable monitoring system including quantitative elements of pace and completion rate formulas
 - In general, student maintain eligibility for federal aid, if passing 67% of classes
 - GPA monitoring happens when students meet junior status and need a 2.0 GPA minimum once 56 credit hours are obtained
- Questions/Answers:
 - What happens when a student change program of study?
 - Student may run into a time that they lose eligibility for financial aid based on pace and hours
 - What if a student adds majors or minors?
 - Once a student exceeds 120 hours, Financial Aid team monitors closely
 - Once one degree is completed, student is no longer eligible for financial aid
 - What are we seeing in terms of recruitment, retention, challenges and successes?
 - Successes: support from new Michigan Achievement Scholarship is benefitting a lot of families
 - Challenges: Pell Grant limits still leave students with difficult gaps to overcome housing, meals, and tuition
 - Financial Aid team is going through aid optimization with consultants right now and examining
 - How to recruit students who are likely to be retained
 - How to help students with big aid gaps
 - What can faculty do?
 - Send students to Bronco Express if students are thinking of dropping classes
 - Invite the Financial Aid team in to talk to faculty groups
 - Send students to virtual advisors linked on the Financial Aid website
 - Faculty are helpful, but should immediately steer students to Financial Aid
 - What Executive Orders are impacting us now?
 - Reduction of staff in the DOE
 - Only two of seven regional centers currently open
 - Slower program review visits anticipated
 - What is coming up?
 - Scholarship Universe needs to be populated to meet President Montgomery's call to centralize scholarships

James left the meeting at 3:53 pm.
