Reports of University Representatives

Bush reported on several major initiatives underway during the program's implementation year and explained recent work with the Faculty Senate Executive Board regarding the proposal to integrate the First-Year Experience (FYE) course into Level 1 of WMU Essential Studies, noting both enthusiasm and concerns raised and emphasizing that broad consultation will continue before any formal action is taken. Bush highlighted three major projects: (1) development of standardized best-practice materials for assessment plans and course proposals, (2) a comprehensive review of all Student Learning Outcome (SLO) rubrics with attention to consistency and clarity, and (3) creation of a unified "one-stop" website consolidating all WMU Essential Studies resources. Bush reported that the WMU Essential Studies Course Review and Approval Committee is temporarily in a low-volume period following a highly successful fall review cycle, allowing the committee to focus on long-term improvements. Bush has been temporarily recalled to active military duty through September 2026 but will remain accessible and continue providing support remotely.

DeChano-Cook noted updates related to course status changes, WMU Essential Studies exceptions, and catalog discrepancies that need attention.

Unfinished Business

Parker volunteered to serve as WMU Essential Studies Executive Advisory Committee secretary.

[MOTION] It was moved by Tripp, seconded by Ernst, to approve Parker as WMU Essential Studies Executive Advisory Committee secretary. The motion carried unanimously.

On SLO Outcome Rubric Review, there was discussion on reviewing rubric clarity, parallel structure, and usability. Members will review rubrics and identify areas needing improvement before the next meeting.

New Business

None.

Announcements
